Some pointers on living for rent in Germany

- Your rental contract must include all costs that may occur (rent, operating costs, etc.) and the duration of your lease.
- Before moving in and moving out of an apartment, you must make an appointment with your landlord to check the rooms and if applicable the furniture for small or large damages. This is to avoid for paying for previous existing impairments in the apartment.
- Rent averages between EUR 350 and 600 (depending on accommodation) and is usually paid by bank transfer, not in cash. The rent prices indicated in advertisements is the so-called Kaltmiete (cold rent) this excludes the extra costs such as garbage disposal, street and house cleaning costs, heating and water costs. All of these costs together are called Warmmiete (warm rent).
- The deposit is usually as high as 2 or 3 months’ worth of rent.
- Your renter’s agreement usually entails you signing the house rules (Hausordnung) of your apartment building. Read them thoroughly.
- The notice period for indefinite rental agreements is 3 months, both for the renter and proprietor.
- There is a quiet period from 10 pm until 7 am, in which you must avoid excessive noise.
- Subletting when the tenant is temporarily absent must be approved by the other directly affected residents and requires a written application (form) in advance to the landlord.
- Under the law, you can keep small animals that are normally in cages, aquariums or terrariums. In the case of larger animals, such as dogs and cats, you need to ask permission from your landlord in advance.
- As a tenant, you are obligated to separate your waste for recycling purposes. In Erlangen the blue container is for paper only, the green container for biodegradable food products (do not throw in plastic bags!), the yellow container for plastic materials and the black container for dirt, hygiene products, cigarettes (not burning!!), etc. Glass, bottles and tin cans must be brought to recycling containers. Batteries, CDs, printer ink cartridges and cork can be returned in stores that sell these products, like supermarkets or electronic stores.
- Barbecuing and open fire on balconies, roof terraces, courtyards and other areas outside are strictly limited. Please ask your landlord about the house regulations before tying it out.
- Every renter is requested to ventilate the apartment appropriately in order to save energy, to prevent mildew and to contribute to an agreeable room climate. Residents are advised to ventilate in the morning and in the evening.
- Please keep up-to-date with announcements, e.g. necessary repair and maintenance works on the black board in the communal hallway. Do not attach or remove notices without permission from the caretaker.
Phone service
You can compare the prices and options of the different providers online or seek advice in a store. Either way, you have two options: a prepaid card or a postpaid phone service contract. You will need to indicate a German street address for both options; some companies accept a hotel address as well.

Prepaid: You can buy credit for the prepaid card in supermarkets, cellphone stores, at atms, gas stations or online. However, the SIM lock must be de-activated on your phone in order to use it! You can compare the different providers at their respective websites or at simtarife.de. For more information check http://prepaid-data-sim-card.wikia.com/wiki/Germany.

Postpaid: For this option you will need a valid German bank account. Your service should have a fixed price per month that includes calls, texts and internet. While deciding on the service that fits your needs best, take note of the contract period (“Laufzeit”), some may be set for a longer period than your stay will be. You can compare the different providers at their respective websites or at billiger-telefonieren.de.

Broadcasting fee
In Germany you will have to pay a special fee for the use of radio and TV for every apartment, including a single dormitory room, even if you only use your computer, laptop or cellphone and do not use a radio or TV. If you are living in a shared apartment (Wohngemeinschaft/WG), only a single fee must be payed among all of the apartment’s residents.

Rundfunkbeitrag, formerly known as GEZ: 17,50 €/month

Liability insurance

For what do I need a liability insurance?
You maybe be liable for causing injuries to other people or damage to the property of others. Accidents leading to great damages can happen fast. For example, if you cause a car accident while riding your bike and damages occur, you must pay for the repair. Should a person be injured additionally, you must also pay compensation of immaterial damage, hospital expenses and so on.

In that case a private liability insurance will help you by paying the damages. Recently, we had a damage case in a Studentenwerk dorm room and the student was glad to have this type of insurance.

Where can I get a liability insurance?
In Germany there are many suppliers for liability insurances, for example the Sparkasse Erlangen. Consult these homepages to find a cheap liability insurance:
http://www.check24.de/versicherungen/privathaftpflicht/privathaftpflicht-vergleich/http://www.haftpflichtversicherung.com/privathaftpflichtversicherung-vergleich/
Unfortunately, they are often in German. Perhaps a German friend can help you.

How much does a liability insurance cost?
A liability insurance is cheap, it costs about 40 to 100 € per year. It also depends on how much you want to pay and the amount of coverage.
We highly recommend acquiring such insurance, as it is not expensive and you are covered in case of accidents.

Women´s shelter

You can check the timetables or buy tickets via the VGN app for the local transport system or the Deutsche Bahn app for long distance travel.
Travelling by bicycle is, especially in Erlangen, the preffered and suitable mode of transportation. To familiarize yourself with the German traffic signs relevant for cylists, check out the „ADFČ´s bicycle guidelines“!

Important note!
In cases of sickness, we recommend seeking a general practitioner out first, who can determine whether you can be treated there or will require a specialist. In cases of an emergency you can visit the emergency room directly.
Please take in mind that the emergency rooms treat patients due to urgency and capacity; you can expect long waiting periods, especially on weekends.

☑ Student groups and organizations

Student Associations/Fachschaftsinitiative (FSI)
The student associations are a collective of students representing the interests of all students of a certain degree programme and your contact for all questions regarding your studies, e.g. if you need old exams in order to exercise for your own exam, if you have questions on certain modules or professors or if you need help or tips on general topics. The FSI also organizes information events on a regular basis and are also responsible for the social life of their students by throwing a variety of parties where you can meet fellow students from higher semesters and of course have the opportunity to actively participate yourself!
Find your FSI here: https://stuve.fau.de/stuve/fak-dep/fsien/

I always stay behind a truck because the driver might not be able to notice me.

I look at car drivers who are going to cross over my bicycle path to make sure they have noticed me.

I keep a safe distance while riding along parked vehicles or other obstacles.

I am particularly cautious when riding past garage entrances.

I pay attention to all other users of the road.

When turning right I put out my right hand and pay attention to other users of the road, in particular pedestrians.

At the end of bicycle paths I look backwards and put out my left hand before riding on the road.

Before turning left: 1) I look backwards, 2) I put out my left hand, 3) I ride to the middle of the street, 4) I pay attention to vehicles coming in the opposite direction. If I do not feel safe I cross the road as a pedestrian.

The ADFC - Allgemeiner Deutscher Fahrrad-Club
(General German Bicycle Association)

is committed to ensure you a pleasant and safe cycling.
